Karen Armstrong's masterly & illuminating book explores the ways in which the "idea" & "experience" of God evolved among the monotheists: Jews, Christians & Muslims. Weaving a multicolored fabric of historical, philosophical, intellectual & social developments & insights, Armstrong shows how, at various times through the centuries, each of the monotheistic religions has held a subtly different concept of God. At the same time she draws our attention to the basic & profound similarities among them, making it clear that in all of them God has been & is experienced intensely, passionately & often (especially in the West) traumatically. Some monotheists have seen darkness, desolation...
