Dept. of Agriculture, Economic Research Service, 2006 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)76788967 Subject: Dairy products industry -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Technology-Driven Ingredients The growing awareness of the many roles of specific milk components is helping to boost demand for those components as ingredients. The dairy industry is developing technologies to economically and efficiently extract and process these components of milk. Within the dairy ingredient complex - which includes fat, sugar (lactose), and proteins - proteins are the targets of much of the research and development (see box Milk Proteins: Economic Significance and Uses). The growth in new markets for milk proteins exemplifies the transformation of milk from a commodity to a value-added product tailored to meet specific consumer requirements. Milk proteins are a major part of functional food product formulations, and their use is expected to grow (Gloy, 2004). The outlook for milk protein markets is promising given current demand trends among both food proces-sors and consumers for protein ingredient specificity. For processors and manufacturers, the confirmed functionality of ingredients, not perceived or intangible values, determines market values. Dairy-based ingredients have the potential to evolve into truly global products traded in a world market, and pricing is likely to become highly competitive as this market matures. Milk Proteins: Economic Significance and Uses The rapid rise in the milk proteins market is the result of growth in demand from food processors. Processors require specialized ingredients for processed cheese, yogurt, bakery products, and nutritional foods, such as high-protein sports drinks and energy bars. In the United States, imports of milk protein concentrates (MPC) have been encouraged in part by the higher...
