Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Discovery of Dicoveries Talking of Discoveries, in the year (what year was it?) when some time before that midnight hour of the 3rd of September, 1838, I discovered I must be about my business? And when, if all they say is true, I sent forth an unnecessarily peremptory shout of arrival just as the clock struck the midnight hour. Although the question arose whether with the striking of the clock-bell the 2nd of September culminated, and, the 3rd of September and little Evie arrived with the ceasing of the ringing of the bell. That question was later critically reviewed by my father, astrologically scientific student as he was. His interest as to the precise date and hour partly arose from the fact that I was the last arrived, family-individuated-element, and partly, because my father was possessed by the conviction that it was to be my business to discover Discoveries which, disjointedly had been made, but which had not been aggregatingly utilized for the benefit of the age-long swirls of up-climbing existences. Existences which, from pre-Adamic times but historically now remain catalogued as the Ethics of the Dust. Records of which could be unearthed only by the individuated energy which, in early life, I felt must culminate in the outpouring upon humanity of an intellectualized chrism in the scientific facts of Omni-Present Life.
