We are met this morning, as you are aware, brethren, for a twofold purpose. We are met to celebrate the feast of St. Michael and All Angels, and also to thank God for His special mercies vouchsafed to us, as a nation and as a parish; for His mercies to this whole nation in the late abundant harvest, and for His mercies to this parish in preserving us untouched by that terrible visitation of cholera, which is smiting down its thousands and tens of thousands around us, and which, in our own immediate neighbourhood, has been busy in the work of death. And I doubt if a more suitable day for our thanksgiving than this could have been found in the Church s calendar. Let me try to explain why this is so. We are very apt to speak of things happening by accident or by chance. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
